

12 Per Cent In Pay Of 200,000 Packer Employees

Abolition of Basic 8-Hour Day,
Established During War,
Is Ordered.

EMPLOYERS FEAR STRIKE

Union Leaders Meet in Omaha
to Decide Action to Be Taken.

By J. L. O'Sullivan
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Wages of 200,000 employees of packing companies were cut approximately 12 1/2 per cent Tuesday.
The basic 8-hour day which was placed in effect during the war was abolished.

The decision affects about 30,000 employees in Chicago and the remainder
are in the other eleven principal market centers of the country.

Notice of the reduction was posted at all packing plants Tuesday. The men had not been informed of the move previously and there was considerable anxiety among the packers
as to what the reaction would be.

Union leaders in the packing industry are now meeting in Omaha to decide on their course of action. There was considerable apprehension among the employers that it might result in a strike. Leading packing executives interviewed by the United Press

declared that they were prepared for the worst and now believe they are ready.
Their forces are only about one-half the size they were during the war. In a strike, they believe that some of the men laid off would be anxious to come back.

Outside of Chicago the cities where large numbers of workers will be affected include Omaha, St. Louis, Kansas City, Indianapolis, St. Paul, St.
Joseph, Mo., Sioux City and Fort Worth, Texas.

The minimum wage guarantee for employees will be kept at 40 hours per week, the announcement said. "Time
and a half overtime will be paid only for work done after 10 hours in any one day, or after 54 hours in any week, with the exception of double time on Sundays and the 6 leading holidays."

In explaining the cut in hours of work, J. Ogden Armour, head of the packing company of that name, in a statement to the United Press said:

"This does not mean the elimination of the 8-hour day; the whistle
will blow in the Armour plants at the end of eight hours just as usual. The revision affects chiefly the killing gangs whose hours of labor are determined by livestock receipts over which packers have no control. These receipts vary from day to day, providing much less than eight hours
work on some days and more than eight hours on other days."

40 Hours Guaranteed

"The guarantee of 40 hours pay per week frequently results in employees
being paid for many hours of work
each week for which they actually perform no work. When on top of this is added penalty resulting from a basic 8-hour day, the burden becomes greater than the industry can bear
and the public has shown plainly in the last two years that it will not carry it."

Armour said that the employers' desires under the circumstances are not in issue, the fact is simply that the business cannot exist if its expenses
are greater than its margins.

In view of the fact that "packing house wages average three times as much today as they were before the war," the reduction of 12 1/2 per cent is
"very small," Armour said.

Strike Is Threatened

"Packing plant workers will never go back to the 10-hour day," Dennis Laney, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers of America, declared when informed of the packers' action.

"The main complaint of the employees is on the arbitrary and high handed method in which the packers acted."

"Instead of proceeding in an orderly and regular manner, they have adopted this procedure, breaking the agreements made and defying the government."

Lane declared 90 per cent of the packers' employees were unionized and would bring a strike call if the Omaha men decided to issue one. The packers pay less than 50 per cent of the men's winter expenses.

NO TIME TO ADD TO STATE EXPENSE, ASSEMBLY DECIDES

Five Appropriation Bills Are Slaughtered by Badger Lawmakers.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Boxing under state supervision was threatened with extension Tuesday when reconsideration
of the appropriation bill to the Wisconsin athletic commission came before the assembly.

While death on other appropriation bills, the assembly voted to increase the commission $2,000 without serious objection. Leaders of all factions supported the boxing bill.

Madison.—All appropriation bills
carrying increases over two years ago,
were killed in the assembly Tuesday.
Four of the five measures were for different farm organizations, including the Wisconsin live stock breeders association which asked an increase of $2,000.

Assemblymen declared by a vote of 56 to 22, increased appropriations were
"improper at this time when the state must economize. Among the bills killed were appropriations to the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association,
the Wisconsin Dairymen's association,
the Wisconsin Poultry association and the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences,
Arts and Letters."

The slaughter saved the state $7, 325.

The Hasley bill calling for a consolidation of city and county government of Milwaukee was killed by a vote of 72 to 10 after much debate.
Socialist members favored the bill on the ground it would save the expense
of a dull government with many overlapping departments. A. E. Matheson, assemblyman from Janesville, said the bill was vicious and would allow Milwaukee to grab the remainder of the county without the consent of the people residing outside.

The Cook bill permitting a greater force of deputies to collect automobile licenses was advanced to third reading after it was charged that thousands of licenses would be lost.

SEEK EFFICIENCY IN U. S. AFFAIRS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Creation of a more effective executive machinery was discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the cabinet.

Problems confronting each of the government departments in connection with this move, were taken up.

The cabinet, it was stated, also discussed methods to eliminate the overlapping of different activities among the several departments.

All of the cabinet members, it was said, are committed to this policy and purpose to realize its fulfillment and to avoid any suggestion of jealousy
among the different departments.

Other matters which were taken up included the Central American situation brought about by hostilities between Panama and Costa Rica.

Secretary of War Weeks presented
the war department problems in reorganizing the army on a post war
basis.

Vice President Coolidge attended the meeting and was received upon the same status as though he had been head of a department.

BLAME MECHANICS FOR DEATH OF MAIL AIRMEN

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Negligence of mechanics at the Chicago air mail field
is blamed for the crash at La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 9, which killed three aviators, according to word received here.

John Larson, who sold the German
junker plane to the postal department, in a letter to H. Steinhorn, chairman of the congressional committee on postoffice, declared the plane had been damaged in a previous accident and had not been properly repaired.

W. L. Carroll, Minneapolis, and Pillath Arthur Roe and Mechanic Arthur
Hill of Chicago, were killed in the crash.

CONGRESS AND PRESIDENT GO HAND IN HAND

New Era of Good Feeling Is Started With Harding's Inauguration.

CALLS DINNER MEETINGS

Much of Government's Business
Will Be Transacted Over Coffee Cups.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)

Washington.—The era of good feeling, proclaimed so hopefully by President Harding in his inaugural address, has in a measure been begun.

The smiling countenances of Democratic as well as Republican senators emerging from the president's office bore testimony today to the fact that for the first time in eight years congress and the chief executive are on intimate terms with one another. This means no reflection on Mr. Wilson, who came to Washington without knowing much about the personal equation of congress and who never cultivated the legislative membership
but it does mean that Warren Harding's six years in the United States senate will probably prove a great advantage instead of a handicap to him.

There are almost as many Democrats as Republicans calling on Mr.
Harding. Senator Oscar Underwood
of Alabama, leader of the minority,
spent a long time with the president.
When he came out of the White House, Mr. Underwood admitted that he had asked Mr. Harding to give the boys in congress a chance to go home between now and the extra session of congress, arguing, indeed, that congress would probably be here all summer and that the interval was needed
by every member of congress irrespective of party.

But that wasn't all Mr. Underwood
and Mr. Harding talked about.

"The president and I are old friends," said Mr. Underwood, with a laugh, "and we had a good deal to talk about that couldn't be made public."

Will Aid Democrat

Another Democrat, senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, had an audience with President Harding, who, it will be recalled, expressed personal regret
at the defeat suffered by Mr. Chamberlain in the last election.

"What chance had I," said Mr.
Chamberlain jokingly, "when the outgoing president didn't want to see me
and the incoming president telegraphed
that he wanted a Republican elector?"

"There is good reason to believe that President Harding will take care of Mr. Chamberlain by appointing him to the shipping board as a Democratic member."

But the striking event with which Warren Harding begins his first week
as chief executive is unquestionably
the dinner given at the White house
to twelve members of the house and nine members of the senate, all of them Republican leaders. Mr. Wilson didn't believe in talking business at meal times. Rarely did he invite anybody to lunch or dinner who might talk shop. The occasions at which senators and representatives were especially invited to dine at the White house in the last eight years can be numbered on the fingers of two hands.

Both Presidents Taft and Roosevelt
seldom missed a week without having members of congress to lunch or dinner or even breakfast. Mr. Wilson preferred to work hard between meal
hours and see callers in the forenoon
or afternoon or even after dinner at night, reserving meal hours for his family.

Talk Over Cups

President Harding, however, shares
the European idea that much more
can be accomplished in government
over a cup of coffee than by stiff and formal conferences under the stress
and strain of a crowded engagement
list.

Mr. Harding knows congress and is aware that the success of his administration depends upon the kind of cooperation he gets not merely from the members of his own party but the minority as well. The president is an earnest individual who has set out to get the maximum amount of help out of congress. He is already popular with the rank and file of congress. He believes, however, in party organization and will follow rather rigidly the recommendations of the local party chieftains on appointments. His knowledge of how to handle politicians is his greatest asset for while the political skills do not as a rule contribute constructive ideas they can do a great deal to undermine and destroy public confidence in a chief executive. Mr. Harding has started out well with his invitation to members of congress to sit down with him at dinner and plan the work of the extra session. Mr. Harding, moreover, has given his cabinet to understand that he hopes they will handle as much business as possible without referring matters to him. He wants the heads of the departments to manage these departments and to consult him only on questions of broad policy. Mr.
Harding means to make his cabinet
officers do the work and take the responsibility too. That alone has inspired confidence already, and so far as the national capital is concerned,
it has revived thoughts of another
era of good feeling in American history.

DIDN'T BARGAIN TO EAT LIVE CHICKENS

By United Press Leased Wire
Edwardsville, Ill.—Joseph Kiss
collected $25 from John Koss
here when he ate 48 doughnuts
and 23 eggs in two hours.

Koss bet Kiss that he couldn't eat four dozen doughnuts in an hour and follow it up with two dozen raw eggs in the next hour.

Kiss got away with the doughnuts in fine style. The eggs took longer. With 23 down and three minutes to go, Kiss cracked the last shell. A tiny chicken's head appeared. Koss walked the necessity of consuming number 24. Kiss then drank a quart of milk to show his capacity had not been seriously taxed.

LUTHERAN AID ASSN. PLANS 5 STORY BUILDING

Building Committee Recommends Splendid Structure
for Downtown Corner.

Construction of a five story office
building on the corner of Collegeave.
and Superiorst. by the Aid Association for Lutherans will be started in the near future if the board of directors accepts the recommendation of the special building committee which Monday decided to recommend one of the finest office structures in the state. The board of directors is to meet here Friday, March 18.

The main building, as recommended by the committee, will have a frontage of 60 feet on Collegeave.
and 150 feet on Superiorst. A one story annex between the main building and the Elite theatre also will be recommended. This annex will have a frontage of 30 feet on Collegeave.
The estimated cost of the project is $311,000.

It is proposed to rent the lower floor of the main building and annex
for store purposes. There will be sufficient floor space for three retail establishments. The Aid Association for Lutherans probably will occupy the entire fifth floor for its main office, leaving three intervening floors
for offices.

The building will be of fireproof
construction throughout if the building committee's recommendation is adopted. Brick and terra cotta will be used and trimmings will be in green.

The building committee consists of
G. D. Ziegler, W. H. Zuehlke, Albert
Voecks, John P. Schoettler, Henry
Hegner, Appleton, and A. O. Benz, Fond du Lac.

Helsingfors.—Red troops aided by Chinese mercenaries attempted to stem a rebel march on Petrograd at Washost in late Monday but were repulsed by heavy fire from the battleship Petropavlovsk.

The dreary winter region about Petrograd resounded Tuesday to heavy firing. The most severe bombardment occurred between Petrograd and the Island fortress of Kronstadt. Firing between these two points began last night after the breaking off of negotiations, the nature of which was obscure.

One report stated that soviet authorities remaining in Petrograd had suggested the negotiations, sailors at Kronstadt agreeing. The soviet leaders were said to have broken the truce by opening artillery fire. Another report, widely accepted, was that the occupants of Kronstadt had sued an ultimatum and began firing
when there was no response.

GOVERNOR VETOES RENT BOARD AID

Blaine Sharply Criticizes Railroad Commission in Veto Message.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The Milwaukee rent board
emergency appropriation of $10,000-000 was vetoed by Governor John J.
Blaine Tuesday.

In returning the bill to the legislature without approval, the governor
took occasion to sharply reprimand
the railroad commission under which the rent law was administered.

He said the railroad commission had sufficient funds, in his opinion, to carry on the work of administration and told the legislature it was the plain duty of the commission to continue the work.

The governor quoted his recent
financial message saying:

"Some of these deficits arose because of circumstances over which the boards, commissions, and departments
had no control. Others of these deficits arose because of circumstances created by boards, departments and commissions, in plain violation of the law and in such case the legislature
should not, at this time, supply such deficits."

"In my opinion," the governor says
in his veto message, "the railroad commission could have prevented the condition that is now alleged to confront them."

The governor said he observed the railroad commission was paying $300
per month for news service "and I have no thought that such news service adds efficiency to administration
or serves any useful public purpose,"
the governor said.

TROTZKY'S MEN DESERTING

Even the Most Fluent Soviet Orators Are Unable to Stiffen Morale.

By United Press Leased Wire
Russian revolutionaries, according to Scandinavian reports Tuesday, have strengthened their hold on Petrograd and the surrounding territory.

Red troops sent to the region to meet an expedition of 37,000 sailors and workers from Kron-
stadt, were reported driven back
by heavy shelling from the naval fortress and a captured battleship.

One of the most magnetic Moscov orators, Gregory Zinovieff,
has gone to the front to bolster
the bolshevik morale but reports
said his speech appeared hopeless.

The loyalty of garrisons outside Petrograd was questioned. They were taking part in the firing
Tuesday but because of fog it could not be determined which faction they supported. It was believed they are in rebel hands.

The revolutionaries were reported to have killed or captured
every bolshevik commissar in Petrograd.

Officers Captured

All bolshevik commissaries in Petrograd have been killed
or taken prisoner by revolutionaries,
according to foreign office advices Tuesday.

Dispatches from Helsingfors confirmed reports that all Petrograd, except the fortress of St. Peter and St.
Paul, was in rebel hands.

The dispatches apparently refuted
a report that Gregory Zinovieff, chief Red propagandist, had been captured. He was said to have been sent to Petrograd in the hope that his oratory would stiffen the morale of the bolshevik troops.

The reports said his errand appeared hopeless since most of the fortresses in the territory outside Petrograd had joined the revolutionaries.

STEALS $900 AND ELOPES WITH GIRL

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Miss Helen Wilson, 19,
who said she was a niece of a director of the Interurban Railway company
of Niagara Falls, and Paul Randolph, 20, a ticket seller for the concern,
were arrested at the Sherman hotel
here early Tuesday and held for Eufalo police.

Randolph said he fled with the girl
when he was about to be arrested for stealing $900 from the company. He confessed to the theft and said he was willing to go back and make restitution.

Miss Wilson said she loved Randolph but her father wanted her to marry a wealthy resident of Buffalo.
To escape the marriage planned by her father, she said, she fled with the man she loved.

Randolph said he made $20,000 by speculating in Texas oil stock with the money he took. He said he was going to make restitution and then marry the girl.

"I love him so much I would do anything for him," Helen told the police who arrested her.

"I guess I was scorched by the fires
of love."

MERCHANTS TO OPEN STYLE SHOW MONDAY

Spring is to be heralded by Ap-

of the chamber of commerce is making the arrangements and expects to announce the details
of the program in a day or two.

TAX REVISION IS TO BE FIRST TASK

President Harding Wants Tax Legislation to Precede Tariff Fight.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The program for tariff and revenue legislation will be worked out at a joint meeting of republican members of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee within a day or two, Senator Penrose announced Tuesday.

Washington.—A complete revision of burdensome war tax laws will be undertaken as one of the first major tasks of the special session of congress, it appeared certain Tuesday as the result of President Harding's first conference with the senate and house leaders and other developments.

In accordance with the announced
policy of Harding that domestic affairs are of pressing importance in the congressional program, it was learned that the president is inclined to believe that modification of taxes
should precede a general tariff revision.

The prevailing opinion of the senate
and house members at the president's dinner was that taxes should be modified first.

It is generally admitted that no big reduction can be made. The total will have to be close to $4,000,000,000
for the next year at least and the present laws, because of the recent shrinkage in profits, will not convert
much more than that into the treasury. The plan is to modify the war taxes.

GERMANY HOLDS
GOOD CARDS BUT

Inability to Sense Attitude of

By COL. E. M. HOUSE
(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger)
New York.—A great game is being played in London around the table at which is gathered the supreme council.

To the superficial
observer it would seem that the entente held all the
cards and that Germany must lose, no
matter how she
plays her hand.
But that is not altogether true. While the advantage is
with the allies, yet
they do not hold so strongly that clever
playing on the tectonic side might not triumph. It is conceded that the allies forces can invade Germany when
and where they will; but it is probable that they cannot insure their desires
by doing so. And it may possibly result in as much harm to them as to their enemies. The entente realize this and so do the Germans. Hence the caution on the one side and the apparent defiance on the other. It would seem that Dr. Simons and his colleagues know as little about diplomacy as their recent predecessors.

The Germans apparently lack, to an unusual degree, an understanding of international psychology. They are great organizers, great scientists, and proud workers. They have practically every attribute necessary for success except the ability to fathom
the thoughts and purposes of their fellow men. In this they are strangely lacking. It may have cost them
the war, and it may now cost them
the benefits which a settlement of the question of reparations would bring.

Enjoyed Good Will

The German representatives went to London with the good will of a large part of the neutral world, but they have discarded this advantage. In considering they have failed to assess properly the opinion of those peoples
with whom they were so recently at war. They have not approached the task in the right spirit and lacking this,
they have blundered.

No one in or out of Germany believes she can pay the damage her
troops did during these awful years
of war. The conflict was on too large a scale and lasted too long. But what is demanded by an outraged world is a spirit carrying with it a purpose to do in reparation all that is possible.
And it is this lack of the right spirit
that alienates the sympathy even of those wishing them a just settlement.

Germans are Docile

In exacting penalties the allies
feared there might be protests from
the Germans in the occupied
territory.

UP TO LEGION TO FORCE ACTION ON BONUS PROMISES

Green Bay Man Delivers Stirring Address at Jubilee Meeting Here.

LEGION WAS TOO MODEST:

Veterans Have Learned That American People Are Not Grateful.

With an attendance that overflowed the seating capacity of Elk hall, Oney legion post of the American Legion held a jubilee meeting Monday evening, the first since the drive for 600 members was successfully staged. Judge James H. McGillan, Green Bay, was the principal speaker and outlined what the legion stood for in a stirring address. Charles C. Baker, post commander, presided.

The legion made its mistake, the speaker said, in being too modest. Its members believed congress and the people would back up the promises made during the war, so asked nothing. The mistake is realized now, and the legion is demanding for the service men what they are entitled to. He also told of the manner in which the government had forsaken the sick and wounded and that it would be the American legion that would wake up congress and bring action.

America was also strongly encouraged by the speaker, who said the foreigner was not to be blamed for his attitude toward our government when he first reaches our shores.

An ovation lasting fully three minutes was given Judge McGillan when he finished his address. He drew frequent applause while he spoke, as he reviewed the former service man's situation and told the new members that their organization meant to them.

Are Bound Together

Just as the men of the Grand Army of the Republic were banded together for what they went through, so there was a close bond between the men of the legion because of the fact that they were in the service, the speaker said. They are banded together by a bond stronger than that of the legion could ever write and our buddies now just as they were "over there."

"Most of us ask what here is in it for us to belong to the legion," said Mr. McGillan. "It perhaps is a selfish motive, but it is human nature. You fellows know what we got from the government while we were over there. We got our $30 a month, while the men at home doing piece work were earning $8 to $14 a day. They had jobs, wealth, money. If we had quit, what then? When England's great commander said his men had their backs to the wall, our buddies at home would have been in dire straits if we had quit then. We were holding the walls outside so they could have the comforts at home."

Fail on Promises

"When the war was over we cast a balance of the books to see whether the boys overseas would receive their share of the profits at home. We well remember the stories that came to us in the darkness of the trenches. Congress, voicing the sentiment of the people at home, said they were back of the boys in the trenches. What did we find when we came home? We found congress was a hell of a ways back; so far they couldn't see us at all. When the bill was presented to pay the service men a bonus, those who were loudest in their statements were voting against us."

"That is where the legion made its first mistake," the speaker continued. "We were too modest. We believed the people would make good on their promises. We wouldn't ask for

"Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered so with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. adv.

WARNS AGAINST NEW CHAIN LETTER

Some unidentified person is attempting to cause mental distress among a number of Appleton people by mailing out another of the chain letters that frequently make their appearance here. The attention of Gustave Keller, postmaster, has been called to the matter and he has issued notice that any persons receiving the letters should disregard them entirely.

Opening the letter is a paragraph which reads, "God bless our soldiers and sailors and keep them in the hollow of thy hand. Amen. It then goes on to say that this prayer and the letter should be copied and sent to seven married women. Those who comply will pass, but those who "break the chain" will encounter misfortune. The letter predicts that great joy will come on the seventh day to those who write.

"It is all right to ask a person to pray for the soldiers and sailors," said Mr. Keller, "but nobody on earth is able to predict joy or misfortune for anybody. This feature is apt to cause mental distress or worry to some people, so I want to warn them to pay no attention to such letters."

thanks to the men for their resolution of appreciation of his services in organizing the post. A rising vote of thanks was extended Edgar Schommer, chairman of the membership campaign committee, for his work. A resolution was also adopted thanking Stephen Balliet, other citizens, merchants and business men for their assistance during the campaign.

Reports were given by Thomas Morrissey, vice commander, and L. Hugo Keller, adjutant on the conference they recently attended in Marshfield. Mr. Keller also said the post had sent telegrams to Senators LaFollette and Lenroot, urging them to support the bonus bill. The former replied assuring his support. Senator Lenroot ignored the first message, and in reply to a second one demanding that he fulfill his prelection promises, he wired a curt reply that he would vote for the bonus.

A delightful program of entertainment was furnished when the formal meeting was closed and the gathering turned over to Martin Peeters, chairman of the entertainment committee. Earl Young, Mr. Walkup and Miss Warren, of the Young stock company which opens in Appleton theater Thursday evening, sang seven songs amid a shower of applause that brought frequent encores. Solos were also rendered by Emil Nelson, accompanied by Mrs. L. H. Martin, and by Clement Hackworthy, accompanied by Max Schult.

There was a merry scramble when Mr. Peeters ordered the veterans to "fall in for mess." A chow line was formed and Vienna rolls, wieners, chocolate doughnuts and coffee served.

How Library Movement Was Begun Quarter Century Ago

The question of taking steps to secure a public library in Appleton was considered at a meeting of the Good Citizenship League 25 years ago Monday. F. J. Harwood acted as chairman of the meeting.

The question was opened in the affirmative by the Rev. John Faville, who was followed by W. F. Winsey, Karl Mathie, O. E. Clark, Dr. Rush Winslow, President Samuel Plantz, E. E. Dunn, Rev. J. L. Bunkel, T. H. Ryan, John Bottensiek, Prof. Gibson, F. W. Harriman, and Fred Heinemann.

As the result of the discussion two motions were carried. The first was that the common council be petitioned to provide means for the people to vote at the spring election upon the question of whether it desired a library.

The Rev. John Faville, F. E. Dunn and T. H. Ryan were appointed as a committee to present the petition to the council at the meeting the following evening.

The second motion which prevailed was that the executive board of the league appoint a commission consisting of two persons from each public school district and parochial school, whose duty it was to agitate the library question, solicit subscriptions, if it were deemed advisable, and keep the scheme alive in case the council refused to allow a vote to be taken at the election the following month.

The matter suggested of uniting the school libraries and the college library as a nucleus for the public library was also discussed, but no action was taken.

MARSHALL IS BEST KNOWN AS HUMORIST

Former Vice President of United States Will Be Here Friday.

Usually when a man is elected vice president of the United States it is equivalent to sending him to the political burying ground. His days as a political power usually end when he takes the oath in the senate chamber. It doesn't take long to forget a vice president. There are hundreds of people in Appleton who don't remember who was vice president during the Taft administration and still more who have forgotten Roosevelt's vice president in his second administration.

Thomas R. Marshall, who comes here Friday night to speak in Lawrence Memorial chapel as the eighth number of the Appleton Community Lecture and Artists series, however, will linger long in the memory of American people, perhaps not as a statesman but as a humorist and all around good fellow. Marshall never claimed

"WHY CHANGE YOUR WIFE?"

A Paramount Artercraft Picture

By WILLIAM DEMILLE

Where was the girl he married? Where the lure, the glamour, the ecstatic sweet-hour hours?

Faded into dull, drab matrimony. Was he wholly to blame when another woman, aglow with the joy of living, slipped into the place in his life which his wife had left vacant? Was he?

A vital, intimate picture of the greatest problem of love and marriage. Dressed in all the luxury, color and feminine beauty that distinguished DeMille's "Male and Female" and "Don't Change Your Husband."

GUARD COMPANY IS INSPECTED MONDAY

Military Officer Will Inspect Band and Its Property Tuesday.

Major Mahon Joyce, a regular army officer who is temporarily stationed in Madison, as inspector and instructor for the Wisconsin National guard, is in the city inspecting army property, the local company and the band.

A thorough inspection of property, records and administration was made Monday afternoon after which the officer was made guest of honor at a 6:30 dinner at Hotel Appleton. Other officers present were Major Charles A. Green, Colonel H. E. Pomeroy, Major Lathar Graef, Captain M. S. Peerenboom, Captain Merkle, Lieutenant Fred Morris, Captain Hoffman and Lieutenant Ivaux Miller.

Major Joyce held drill inspection in the evening with 55 men and 3 officers present. He expressed satisfaction with the result.

When the 127 Regiment is formed of which the local company will be a part, Major Joyce is to be one of the instructors with headquarters in Oshkosh.

Property of the band will be inspected Tuesday afternoon and the band itself Tuesday evening in the band rooms.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

U. S. SCOUT BODY IMPROVES SYSTEM

Local Council Will Issue Membership Cards Immediately Hereafter.

An improved method has been adopted by the National Boy Scout Council for handling applications of new members, according to word received by E. R. Henderson, scout executive. It formerly took about three weeks to enroll a new scout because the name had to be sent to the New York headquarters, but registration cards will be issued in the Appleton office hereafter, and a report sent to New York afterward.

Mr. Henderson is greatly pleased with the change, because it gives a greater incentive to boys to join. They usually want their membership card as soon as they qualify, because they feel aloof from the troop until the card arrives otherwise.

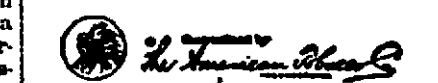

Merit badges are to be issued under similar arrangements hereafter. Each council will be permitted to keep a number of badges on hand for the various tests. The court of honor will issue the badge as soon as a scout passes an examination, instead of waiting until the application is submitted to headquarters. These changes are effective March 15.

"That is something which the Appleton Women's club ought to take up, and children ought to be taught differently in homes and schools." The man related many instances where he had seen children racing

Kids And Rope Take Joy Out Of Spooners' Life

Kid brothers are pests when the young man calls on his sweetheart, but farmers' kids prowling around spooners' automobiles are worse. At any rate, one Appleton man clings to that belief, and may find some safer place to carry on his courting.

It is said that the swain drove to "spooner's lane" near Carter woods, town of Grand Chute, in an automobile. They stopped by the roadside and lost all track of the world when they began to talk of love.

Mischiefous boys tied a rope to the rear axle of the car, and tied the other end to a tree. One then crawled under the machine and shut off the gasoline supply from the engine. They

A large quantity of liquor was stored in the Reitzner basement. It is said that access was gained through a window and about seven cases of whiskey and 5 gallons of wine and gin taken, evidently by men who possessed an automobile truck.

The Reitzner residence is in Winnebago county and the matter probably will be referred to authorities there.

A Brain Can't Work Right On Thin, Watery Blood

It Takes Iron to Make Strong, Forceful, Magnetic Men With the Power and Energy to Win

Many a capable man falls just short of success—nearly "gets there" but not quite—simply because he lacks sufficient iron in his blood to give him the physical strength and power to furnish the proper force to his brain and the "staying" strength to his "will." A brain cannot do its work right—think the thoughts that win—on thin watery blood any more than a locomotive can pull a big train of cars with a weak smoldering fire under its boiler. When your blood is starting for iron no more tonics nor stimulants can put you right. You must have iron, for without iron your blood loses its power to change food into living tissue and nothing you eat does the proper amount of good. You do not get the full strength out of it. To get iron you must eat the fruits of grains and the peels and skins of fruits and vegetables as our forefathers did or take a little organic iron from time to time and eat more such iron-containing foods as spinach and apples. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. To prove to yourself what Nuxated Iron will do, get your doctor to take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood-count" of your red corpuscles, then take Nuxated Iron for a month and have a new "blood-count" made and see how your red blood corpuscles have increased and how much stronger and better you feel; see how the color has come back to your cheeks, how steady and strong your nerves have become. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters NI on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

FOR WISCONSIN'S RURAL SCHOOLS
One of the most important bills before the legislature affecting education is that which proposes to reorganize the country schools. Its provisions follow closely the recommendations of United States Commissioner of Education Claxton. It creates a county board of education to consist of five members, elected by the people of the county exclusive of the cities. This board would have general charge of the educational affairs of the county. It would appoint a superintendent of schools, now elected, at a salary of not less than $2,500 a year, of which the state would pay half. It may appoint a clerk for him, and it would hire supervising teachers at a salary of not less than $100 a month for ten months. It would have the power to create, dissolve or consolidate school districts in accordance with prescribed law.
California, Michigan, Missouri, Indiana and Washington are considering measures this year for the county unit in education and an appointive superintendent, similar to the bill presented in Wisconsin. The plan is the most comprehensive and most progressive thus far worked out for the solution of the country school problem. It offers practical methods for making rural education what it ought to be and what is not, with rare exceptions, in Wisconsin. In the first place it makes it possible to take the office of county superintendent out of politics, where it languishes today with 70 per cent of our superintendents at salaries of $1600 or less, a sum entirely inadequate to secure and hold competent school executives. The fact that a majority of Wisconsin superintendents of city schools receive $3500 or more shows the gross inequality of educational service rendered in city and country. Making the state pay half the salary provides for the poorer counties which might feel that a minimum salary of $2500 was more than they could afford.
If the service performed by a county superintendent is more than perfunctory and clerical it makes greater demands upon him than upon the city superintendent. The undeveloped state of rural schools is a large problem in itself, while there are more teachers to supervise, with great distances to cover and questions constantly arising that do not apply to the city. A salary of $2,500 is the very lowest that should be considered, while counties that can afford more, and they include most of the state, should pay substantially above this.
The proposed plan is valuable because it reorganizes the rural schools in a county unit, making possible standardization, better and more uniform equipment and facilities, etc. It lays the foundation for district consolidation, one of the greatest needs of country schools, which reduces teaching and overhead costs and contributes in itself to vastly better school houses and greater educational efficiency. It invites the establishment of centralized rural high schools, another pressing need. The same educational opportunities should be available to every country as to every city boy, and consolidated grade and high schools are the only way in which these opportunities can be provided.
The bill before the legislature in its main purposes is sound and progressive. It goes to the heart of the rural school question, and it ought to have the active interest and support of the people. Education in the country is estimated to cost $18 per child against $53 in the city, a contrast which points its own lesson in our rural school policies.

Children have not gone out of fashion, fortunately for the world, even though some apartment house landlords and other people seem to be under that impression. Children are still coming to such an extent that it even pays to provide for their housing. Several city apartment houses have advertised recently that they would rent to families with children, and now the owner of the Cappala apartments in Pittsburg even announces that the first baby born in them will bring to its parents a month's rent free. Whether the unmarried and the childless are admitted is not stated, but in any case they will win no free-rent prizes.
"Why," asks the Springfield Republican, "should there not be apartment houses constructed and maintained for people who wish to raise families and who do not wish to take up their residence in a suburban or a run-down city district? Is there any reason why the best appointed apartment blocks in the most desirable locations should be monuments to a vanishing birth rate? The model apartment house with such a purpose would have nurseries and playrooms; it would have a roof garden with swings and sand piles and fresh air and sunshine; it would have elevators that would accommodate baby carriages and downstairs hall space to park them in; it would have nurses with whom for a consideration a mother might leave a youngster on necessary occasions. Perhaps it would have sound-proof walls. And why shouldn't such an apartment pay?"
A very good suggestion we should say, and one that ultimately will bear fruit.

Before congress adjourned the senate committee on naval affairs approved a naval appropriation bill aggregating $496,023,130, which was an increase of $100,000,000 over the house bill. The senate committee on military affairs added $31,000,000 to the house bill and provided for total army appropriations of $362,214,808. Although neither bill became a law their appropriations are virtually assured. Expenditures of the war department for the fiscal year ending June 13, 1915, which included much more than the support of the army, amounted to $172,973,092, while the expenditures of the navy department for that year were $141,835,654.
Since 1915 the world has gone through a war which cost 10,000,000 lives, billions of dollars in property loss and scores of billions in money costs. America's bill alone in that conflict was approximately $25,000,000,000. The war was in truth fought to make the world safe for democracy whether we admit that fact in the heat of political controversy or not. America went into the war to save civilization as much as to protect its national honor and national interests.
Now that the war is over and victory has been won we are confronted by the amazing fact that the United States is providing for a military establishment that costs more than twice what it did in 1915 before the war and for a navy that costs three times as much. It may be granted that it is necessary for the United States to make these enormous preparations for war so long as there is no associated and responsible action by the nations of the world looking to disarmament and the reaping of the real benefits opened to humanity by the World War. The condition is all the more astounding when we take into consideration the fact that since 1915 three great military empires have been destroyed, together with three great navies. In other words, a theoretical race for supremacy is now confined to five powers where it formerly included Russia, Germany and Austria.
So far as navies are concerned there are only three of real power left in the world, those of the United States, Great Britain and Japan. If these three nations are unable to come together for the common purpose to end the armament craze and to set the world upon a really enlightened path of peace then the war was in truth fought in vain. The senate attached as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill a section calling upon the president to summon a conference of the United States, Japan and Great Britain to consider naval disarmament. This step should be one of the first taken by the new administration in the formulation of its foreign policy. Even the passage of a peace resolution will not permit us to forget that the war was fought and that it has entailed upon us problems which press for attention and which will not be solved until we associate ourselves with our allies in the same spirit in peace that we fought with them in war.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only queries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE MENACE OF TYPHUS II
The initial chilliness or chill of typhus, the usual feature of the abrupt onset, unlike the gradual or insidious onset of typhoid fever, does resemble that so commonly seen in the onset of pneumonia. And broncho-pneumonia is a frequent complication or event of typhus. Immediately after the chill, fever high for three or four days, until the peculiar rash appears.
The typhus rash bears a striking resemblance to that of measles, but is not such a bright red; the typhus eruption appears first on the body, that of measles appears first on the forehead or face. The prostration and fever continue for a week or more, and if the outcome is favorable there is a marked improvement with a disappearance of the fever all in a few hours ("crisis") toward the end of two weeks. Thus typhus contrasts strongly with typhoid fever both in its abrupt onset and its short course and abrupt termination, recovery from typhoid occurring after four to six weeks and by gradual daily remissions. The toxic effects of typhus, the blood-poisoning effects of typhus on the patient's nervous system, producing mental dullness and delirium, the disease does resemble typhoid—in fact, the prostration, mental torpor, and muttering delirium so characteristic of typhoid fever was at one time attributed to typhus.
To Dr. Harry Plotz, a young New York physician formerly of Mt. Sinai Hospital, belongs the distinction of having discovered the cause of typhus fever, the bacillus typhi-exanthematicus; to another young physician, Dr. H. T. Ricketts of Chicago—whose death from typhus has already been mentioned—working with Dr. R. M. Wilder, also of Chicago, we must give the credit for having proved that the disease is transmitted by the bite of the louse.
While the health commissioner of New York City is trying to devise some way to protect the country from the menace of typhus fever, which seems to give the federal immigration officers little concern, let us contemplate the beauties of red tape. The public health interests of the country are administered by no less than sixteen (!) different departments or bureaus of the federal government, which naturally affords opportunities for some beautiful card indexing and other pleasant office work—a great profusion of jobs and an ideal tangle of red tape calculated to discourage any bothersome work who might seek to learn what becomes of the money we are spending for the public health.
The figure is not guaranteed. It may be eighteen or twenty-three departments. There should be a bureau established to keep records and a directory and conduct an annual census of the bureaus having public health matters under administration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Have Lip
Is it true that the condition of a child born with a split or lip in the upper lip—harelip, I think it is called—is due to a failure of two parts of the lip or face to grow together before birth? I had always supposed the child developed in one solid mass. (W. M.)
ANSWER—Yes. One process or fold from either side grows out like the petals of a young plant or flower, and early folds to meet the other, to which it unites to form the upper lip and upper jaw. Development is in one mass, as in a plant.
Book for Young Girls
Please print in your column the names of some good books for young girls to read. (Mrs. P. C.)
ANSWER—The Bible. Uncle Tom's Cabin. Health and Happiness, by Dr. Eliza M. Mosher (Funk & Wagnalls, publisher). Confidences, by Dr. Edith B. Lowry for girls ten or twelve years old (Forbes & Co., publisher). A complete list of books and good free pamphlets for girls of all ages, as well as for boys, will be sent you by mail if you want it.
Cereal for Serious Folk
Will you please inform me whether a person over seventy should be eating cereal every morning and whether a person of any age should eat cereal every morning? (A. C.)
ANSWER—Yes, if he likes.
Beer and Quorums
I have read letters from doctors printed in the newspapers, asserting that when the medical doctors of the United States condemned the use of whiskey for medicinal purposes there was not a quorum present. Please excuse the pink writing paper—it is all I have at hand. At least I use no perfume on it, and I sign myself with my real name and address. (P. T. M.)
ANSWER—I'll forgive you—you wrote with ink. I do not know what the medical doctors of the United States would be. Alcohol in the form of whiskey is no longer officially recognized as medicine. The majority of reputable physicians do not prescribe whiskey, though some "eminent" ones are glad to prescribe it freely if you have the price of the prescription. There are something like 150,000 physicians in the United States, I believe. It would be pretty hard to get a quorum together. I think you will find that whiskey and beer are given "medicinal" virtues only by those who profit through their sale or who like their flavor.

Doctors For The Public Mind
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—A bureau of mental hygiene for the city of Washington, which will look after the mental health of the citizens, just as the present Health Department looks after their physical well-being, is now being projected by social workers, and is certainly one of the most striking of recent ideas in municipal administration.
Washington's problems are the problems of other towns. The far-reaching effects of diseased minds are felt in every community. But the diagnosis and treatment of mental disturbances are still largely in an experimental stage. It is only recently that institutions for the insane have become hospitals, as well as homes. And it is a still more recent development that the cities have begun to establish clinical organizations to treat such diseases in their less advanced stages.
These clinics have done pioneer work, and already certain facts are recognized. A clinic here treated 300 people during the past year, mostly ex-inmates of institutions and children. It reports that during the year of its existence, of numerous children brought to it from the juvenile court, not one has been sent to the reform school—where they might have been put had they continued the practices for which they were haled into court.
The doctor in charge of this same mental hygiene clinic informs us that it is an extremely rare occurrence that the reason for antisocial or irrational acts cannot be traced and corrective treatment outlined. Patients usually make return trips to the clinic, and the clinic's social workers last year made 1,500 visits to homes to see how the patients were progressing. This work was chiefly with children.
It is hard to tabulate lasting results of treatment in each case, because, after a time, the clinic almost always loses sight of its old patients, and it can only presume that they have not had further trouble. From encouraging results noted in a large percentage of cases during clinical supervision, the doctor in charge states as his belief that could every child who had unusual or troublesome traits, be properly treated by a psychiatrist and have the proper environment for the rest of its adolescence the number of cases going into jails and insane institutions would be materially lessened. It is recognized that the majority of mentally diseased adults had symptoms of an abnormal condition in childhood. It is also true that children can be more easily treated than adults. They are more readily guided away from the untoward thoughts and associations, and the abnormal condition in them is in the majority of cases less deeply rooted.
Scientists Favor Project
The success of such clinics as this one, working in settlements and poorer districts, has led to the idea that the treatment offered to a small part of the people should be available to everyone—therefore, the plan here for a mental hygiene bureau.
Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's, the Government hospital for the insane, is in favor of the establishment of the bureau. So also is Dr. Robert Yerkes, author of the mental intelligence tests used in the Army. Both of these men are on the committee for mental hygiene. In fact all the alienists, doctors, and social workers of the city, who are interested in mental problems, advocate the project.
How the bureau would function is at present purely speculative. There might be a central clinic for the entire city, though this suggestion has been opposed on the grounds that people would hesitate to come for a consultation to a large public clinic. A more desirable plan from this point of view is for a number of small clinics in different sections of town.
A mental hygiene board or commission would probably be organized to direct the work of promoting mental hygiene in the city. Such a board would conduct research to keep up with the newest methods and discoveries. It would try to educate the public to a more rational viewpoint toward mental defects and disorders. And it would work with schools and other institutions to diagnose abnormal cases.

The scientists warn us not to misunderstand the purpose of this kind of bureau. There is no idea of hunting out people who are a trifle queer and railroad them into institutions. The bureau is to provide a place where the person who has some difficulty in adjusting himself to life can go for treatment just as he would go to a doctor if he had a sprained wrist. Such persons are numerous, and they include many of the most gifted and potentially valuable types. A visit to such a clinic does not in any sense imply insanity. A limited vocabulary leads people to call any one who is eccentric, or has unusual ideas crazy, and by this careless use of words a stigma has been attached to the possession of a mentality that does not approximate the average standard of mediocrity. When we realize that a genius or an intelligent citizen in no danger of insanity may have a mental problem no less than a moron we may get a sane viewpoint of mental hygiene.
Mental Trouble No Disgrace
There are all grades of sanity and intelligence, and no one is all respects "mad" except people simply manage to conform to their surroundings sufficiently to be inconspicuous. When an inability to adjust himself to life becomes a weight on the mind of an individual he is in a case for a mental hygiene clinic. His trouble may not be serious and it may be easily overcome by psychoanalysis or by a change of work or amusement. Mental problems range from such comparatively slight troubles as persistent insomnia, or an unreasonable fear of some place or thing, to cases in which the individual's will power seems entirely paralyzed.
There is an enormous amount of mental unhappiness of all degrees in our midst, but practically no notice is taken unless a case reaches a stage where it advertises itself. This is partly for the reason, already mentioned, that a stigma has unfortunately been attached to the possession of a mind that varies from what people call normal. The other reason why more people who are affected by mental troubles do not consult an expert is that they do not know where to find one.
The doctor at a mental hygiene clinic here tells us that the general medical practitioner is inclined to put mental troubles into two classes—those that are imaginary or that are minor symptoms of physical disease, and those that are obviously serious enough to be diagnosed only by an alienist.
Mental Clinics Increase
All the large cities, however, now maintain mental clinics, and there are growing also psychiatric hospitals, some and treat mental disease. The same doctor impresses upon us the fact that the name "psychiatrist" or some other impressive title cannot be taken in itself as a sign of competence. He advises that no one should consult any practitioner for mental advice without first ascertaining whether the doctor in question is a member of the local medical society. In a large city there is also generally a society of doctors of nervous and mental diseases, and if there is such a local organization, the practitioner should be checked up there.
That mental diseases can be traced back either to living conditions or to a bodily disorder, and that they can be successfully treated, are still new ideas to many people. The mental hygiene movement is dated from the publication, in 1908, of Clifford Beers' "A Mind That Found Itself" in which he vividly described his experience in New England hospitals for the insane. His plea for more intelligent and humane treatment of mental patients resulted within a year in the formation of a National Committee for Mental Hygiene and a Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene, and there are now 15 similar organizations working in different states.

BULL FIGHTER GETS $5,000 FOR ONE DAY
Mexican Star Can Show Baseball Players How to Get the Money.
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Mexico City—Bull fighting has replaced revolution in Mexico as a public pastime.
Twenty-five thousand spectators, of high and low degree, crowd to the bull ring in the capital on a Sunday afternoon. Many are women.
Rodolfo Gaona, the champion bull fighter of Mexico, gets $5,000 for an afternoon's work.
His only rival is Sanchez Mejias, a young doctor from Seville, who has found it more profitable to plant wounds in bulls than to heal wounds in human beings.
Gaona is to Mexican bull ring fans what Babe Ruth is to American baseball fans.
I saw him perform, at an eight-bull show.
The first bull put up a gory fight. It gored two horses. Then Gaona tackled it alone.
In either hand he held a banderilla, a two-foot stick covered with colored tissue paper and pointed with a steel barb.
He shouted. The blood-matted bull turned on him. It charged. Stopped five feet from the bull-fighter, glaring, snorting.
Gaona reached between its horns and sank the banderillas side by side in the bull's shoulders.
He repeated the trick.
Each time the bull's horns narrowly missed him. Taking a chance

WILL TRY TO GUESS AHEAD OF FASHION
(Special to Post-Crescent)
London—Mlle. Marcelle De Saint-Martin has just been engaged by a company of British producers to take up the cudgel against one of the biggest bugaboos of the movies—Dance Fashion.
Owing to the long periods that frequently elapse between the talking and the release of a film, it is a difficult matter in these days of sudden whims, to keep pace with the vagaries of style. The value of many pictures has been greatly reduced by over-night changes in the fashion of gowns before the films were made public.
Mlle. Saint-Martin, a young Parisian artist who for some time has been associated with one of the large Bond street firms, will pit her knowledge of coming Parisian fashions and her general acquaintanceship with style against the whims of society and the inspiration of Parisian dressmakers in the hope that, by outguessing them, she will make more timely and so more valuable the films of her employers.
She has designed many costumes for recent theatrical attractions and has made a serious study and art and its history.
is what supplies the thrill that makes his money.
Finally he dispatched it with his sword.
Wild applause.
The number of women workers in Argentina has doubled in the last five years.

Q. Where can a park acquire a buffalo? N. K. D.
A. The forest service, department of agriculture says that it has a few buffaloes that it desires to give away or loan to park or zoological associations, or private individuals, if assured that good care will be given the animals.
Q. Is there a difference between "apparent" noon and "mean" noon? F. R. S.
A. Apparent or true noon is the time when the visible sun is on the meridian; mean noon is the time when the sun would be on the meridian if its motion in the heavens were uniform and parallel to the equator.
Q. When were samplers first made? M. W.
A. The form of embroidery known as "samplers" has been in use from the earliest times and was known to the ancient Egyptians, Babylonians, Greeks and Romans. The earliest reference in literature to "samplers," however, does not occur until the year 1523 by an English writer, Skelton.
Q. Where on the surface of the earth does the wind blow hardest? A. H. T.
A. The Weather Bureau says so far as observations show the Antarctic continent seems to be the windiest.

Olive Roberts Barton

"The Cockatoo"
By Olive Roberts Barton
"Hello, hello, hello, hello!" screamed a voice, when Nancy and Nick unlocked the door between the Room of Rubies and the Room of Emeralds. They were on their way to the South Pole and were now traveling under earth. They started back in alarm, but the door had shut behind them. Not, however, before the great green bullfrog had slipped in right at their feet. "My goodness!" gasped Nancy. "What a queer voice."
"Ha, ha, ha! Don't be afraid, my dears," came the voice, this time accompanied by a great snapping, and a huge cockatoo came into view around a green corner. "How do you do?"
"We are pretty well, thank you," answered Nancy politely. "And we hope that we're not intruding."
"Intruding! Intruding!" puzzled the cockatoo, lighting on a perch. "That's a new one I haven't learned yet. I shall have to look it up in my dictionary. Just wait! Lands, what a light! These glow-worms are about as much use as the ice man in February. When you don't want 'em, they're right under your feet and when you do want 'em, they're gone. Worms! Worms!" he called shrilly. "Hurry up and come out. I need light to hunt up a word."
Suddenly millions of glow-worms came out and the place glittered with a bright dazzling green.
Just then the cockatoo found the place. "Intruding means in 'the way,' I see, children. No you are not in the way, but your company is." And he fixed his piercing eye on the frog.
"We didn't bring him. He came," said Nancy.
"I'm suspicious," said the cockatoo. "I smell a mouse—mean a frog. Watch him and hold on to your charms. I'm enchanted and have to watch Snitcher-Snatch's Cave. But I like children and I don't love frogs. Besides I know a Jinn when I see one."

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH

Mrs. Burns Was Almost A True Model of "The Dominating Mother."

"No, I haven't heard Ted's defense, but why didn't he wait and explain?" Deb whispered.
I sympathized with her secretly for, in my own mind I was accusing poor Ted. I was terribly disappointed in him. Whatever might have been his reason for going away, Deb was entitled to have it from his own lips, not from her mother's.
But, of course, I mustn't reckon without Mrs. Burns. I reminded myself. Never in her life had she been a negligible quantity in any combination in which she figured.
She was almost a perfect example of "the dominating mother" type, so much so that she explained in the new psychology. Everybody considered Mrs. Burns the most affectionate of mothers, and the wisest and the most self-sacrificing, and Mrs. Burns agreed with everybody. She was one of those all-wise parents who usurp the place of Providence in the administration of their grown-up children's affairs. She could wreck Deb's career and never find it out!
Deb was a splendid type of the modern girl at her best, although she never was at her best when her mother was around. She was no snarker that she actually seemed to use rough, so honest that she believed in everybody. She obeyed her mother from habit. She had been kept from infancy in a state of complete dependence upon her mother and she had been carefully trained to feel insecure except when she was guided by her mother's advice.
This queer "mother-and-daughter complex" is not rare in life. It accounts for some acute unhappiness in the lives of excellent and charming young women and also for some of the domestic differences of brides and grooms. Deb and Ted in South America would get along together far better than they would under the watchful eye of Deb's mother. I couldn't guess by what miracle Deb had decided to elope. I could only deplore the fact that her impulse to escape from maternal tyranny had been spoiled.
I noticed that Mrs. Burns had joined Ann and Van at the station master's window.
"And she ought to feel quite shivery," I thought, "not from cold, but because she is going up against defeat in this campaign."
What she had said to Ted which was compelling enough to make that splendid young man desert the girl he expected to wed was more than I could guess. I perceived that Deb was doing a little fiddle-guessing about this point. She whispered to me blithely:
"Probably he believed that I wasn't giving up much. If I had pretended to adore him, wouldn't he have waited?"
"I—how can I tell?" I stammered.
"I suppose there wasn't enough romance between us to hold him. I suppose that the theory that a successful marriage can be arranged like a business partnership is all wrong. Maybe Ted saw that, maybe he seized his chance to go. I suppose Mother will have her own way in the end! She's apt to be right, I suppose!"
"You're supposing too much, Deborah Burns!" I stormed. "You're not fair to Ted!"
"I'm unfair?" Deb repeated.
"Awfully," I affirmed for I perceived that in so accusing Deb, I had thrown her a life preserver. It was the same old life preserver a woman is always looking for; whether she is jealous, or is afflicted only with a mild emotional distress concerning a man, she desires greedily to blame herself!
Deb wanted to think herself unjust and if I could keep her in that mood, I could throw her dominating mother.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup
Breathe and coughs made at home, but it brings them all for quick results.
Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.
Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.
It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membrane, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

UNIFORM CHARTER BILL AMENDED TO AVOID OBJECTIONS

No Changes in Present Government to Be Made Except by Ordinance.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—The senate judiciary committee is expected to report for passage this week with an amendment, bill No. 21 S., the revisors bill which will repeal all special charters for cities of the second, third and fourth classes, every city in the state with the exception of Milwaukee and place them all under the general charter law.

The amendment, which it is now believed will be adopted, is expected to remove all objections to the bill from the municipalities. The amendment strikes out lines 17 and 18 of the printed bill on page 7 and substitutes a new clause. The portion to be stricken out now reads:

(4) All officers of any special charter city shall continue to hold their office until the expiration of the term of years specified in the charter. The amended clause, which is aimed at all officers of special charter cities as they are at present until changed by the council of those cities, reads:

(4) All officers, the terms of office and the manner of selection of officers shall continue until changed by ordinance adopted by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the council to conform to chapter 62 of the statutes.

"This amendment, we believe, will remove any objection to the bill from any city," declared Charles Crowder, revisor of the statutes, and author of the bill. "There will be a few minor changes in other portions to meet specific cases, but this one section was the stumbling block and I think the amendment answers every requirement. It will permit those cities which now have but one alderman from a ward, or three aldermen, or an alderman also acting as supervisor, to continue such offices until changed by ordinance. However, it will prevent the city from electing any new office except in conformity to the general charter law."

The bill, which contains 186 printed pages, is said to be the most complete measure of the kind ever introduced in the legislature and has not only given the judiciary committee a great deal of work, but has been of great interest to all cities operating under special charters.

SEVERAL JUDGES HAVE OPPOSITION

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Justice A. V. Winsor of the supreme court is without opposition for reelection. The time for filing nomination papers ended Saturday at midnight and no opposing candidate was in evidence.

An interesting campaign for the spring election is expected in the race of C. P. Cary and John Callahan for state superintendent of public instruction. Cary has been superintendent of public instruction for a number of years and Callahan is director of vocational training.

In the fifth judicial district, Levi H. Bancroft of Richland Center is opposed by Sherman Smalley for the circuit judgeship.

In the tenth district Judge Edgar V. Werner is opposed by Albert H. Krugmeier of Appleton.

In the seventeenth, Judge James O'Neill is opposed by C. G. Price of Mauston, F. J. Reichenbach, Black River Falls and E. W. Crosby of Nellville.

Judge A. H. Reid, Wausau, and Judge James Wickham, Eau Claire, are without opposition.

MADISON NEGRO SLAYER BELIEVED TO BE INSANE

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Marshall O'Bannon, colored world war veteran, who shot and killed the Rev. J. G. Fox, colored evangelist of Beloit, here Saturday and perhaps fatally wounded J. A. Josey, Negro editor and politician, is believed to be insane.

O'Bannon refuses to discuss the shooting with officials but tells them he is about to make revelations that will be startling. The state's friends say at times he had hallucinations and persecution. Examination of O'Bannon by alienists, may follow the coroner's inquest held Tuesday.

BANK CASHIER FILLS VACANCY IN ASSEMBLY

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Ira W. Parker, cashier of the Markesan State Bank, who was elected to the assembly at a special election Feb. 22 to succeed the late Samuel Owens, as assemblyman from Green Lake county, is expected to take his seat this week and for the first time this session will give the lower house its full quota of 100 members. Mr. Owens was critically ill when the legislature convened Jan. 12 and died three days later. Mr. Parker, who was born in Green Lake county 44 years ago, has been employed by the Markesan State Bank since 1896, working his way up from messenger to cashier, which position he has held since 1908.

Great Britain plans a gigantic hydro-electric plant in the Severn River, to utilize the power of the tides.

Superior Bachelors To Fight "Happiness Tax"

Superior—"Millions for freedom but not a nickel for a spouse" is the battle cry of Superior bachelors who have organized to fight the tax bill introduced in the Wisconsin legislature which would impose a penalty of $10 on all bachelors in the state.

Branding the proposed law as an effort against the rights and happiness of mankind, the new club has elected officers, preparatory to a statewide campaign for the emancipation of bachelors from the yoke of women and the cowardice of benefactors.

The rebels have announced they will send a delegate to Madison to lobby against the bill. If the bill passes, despite his efforts, he is empowered to seek to have the law amended so that women beyond the marriage age but still old maids, must pay the tax also.

A fee of $1 will be levied on all bachelors members of the organization and funds collected from dues will be used in combating the measure which would "seek to impose a burden on happiness."

who assent to such a law.

The drama began with the disappearance from Beloit of the wife of Michael. Michael has three children, Jay, aged 5, is the oldest. The youngest is 1½ years old.

Jay, trying to do his share of the household duties, cut his little finger on a butcher knife. The wound after the usual attention continued to bleed.

It took five days and in desperation the boy was taken to the Beloit General Hospital.

Doctors say the boy is a "bleeder." Jay got weaker and weaker. Finally one night the nurse heard him say—with a plaintive note in his voice and with no hint of anger—"If you don't bring my daddy to me I'll die."

But the daddy had the other children to think of and his day time must be spent in earning the wherewithal for their daily bread. So he could come only at night.

Then the doctors said: "The boy must have a blood transfusion to save his life."

Woman Offers Blood
But the quality and nature of the blood of the person who gives it up must correspond with that of the person receiving it. The boy was weak and by this time anaemic.

Robust people in plenty can give up a pint of blood without difficulty. But their blood is apt to be too strong.

Then a woman, whose name her name be not mentioned, offered her blood.

Sunday a pint flowed from her body into the blood-starved body of Jay Michael.

The boy picked up—until, boylike he scratched the scab off his little minor cut, and the pint flowed slowly out.

Next Sunday another pint of the unnamed woman's life fluid will go to restore strength to the wan child. The child's mother's whereabouts is unknown.

Mail County Checks
Those having claims against the county which were acted upon at the recent meeting of the county board will receive in payment therefor county orders on Thursday, March 10. They will be mailed out from the county clerk's office at the courthouse, making it unnecessary for any one to call for them.

EDUCATION BILL IS UP WEDNESDAY

Real Fight for Control of Schools Will Be Held in Committee Meeting.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—The educational problem, involving the dual administrative system, will be heard by an assembly committee Wednesday afternoon when the Olson bill is considered. The bill abolishes the state board of education.

The controversy between C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction and E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, will be aired at the hearing and lively interest in the proceedings is being manifested by assemblymen.

This session is expected to reorganize the educational system of the state. Several bills to this effect have been introduced.

Among the important bills to be considered by committees during the week are the Conway eight hour labor bill, the Ingalls bill to hold party conventions before the primaries, the Peterson bill regulating the sale of fire, and the Bennett bill limiting the number of cars to a train.

The joint finance committee will consider the budgets of the different normal schools during the week.

COURT TO HEAR STATE RAILROAD CASE SOON

WANTS STATE TO BUY OFFICE BUILDING

Madison—Assemblyman Martin M. Higgins, Milwaukee, who withdrew his bill providing for a state administration building in Milwaukee, now proposes to compel the owners of the Overland Building, Madison, to sell that building, now used as capitol annex, to the state.

Higgins is the author of the resolution providing for the appointment of a special legislative committee to investigate the leasing of the Overland Building at $12,000 per year for six years. He claims the state will have paid as much as the building is worth by the time its lease expires in rent, etc., and will have nothing to show for it, and he proposes to compel the owners to sell the building to the state at its actual worth.

The building was leased by former Superintendent of Public Property Blumenfeld with the approval of former Governor Philipp, for office rooms for various boards and commissions which have been occupying legislative rooms in capitol, and those which have outgrown old quarters. About 46 office rooms have been equipped in the building and will be kept there for at least six years, the term of the lease, when, if the building is not purchased by the state, the lease will have to be renewed or another secured.

INAUGURAL TEXT IS BEST GUIDE TO RIGHT LIVING

Dr. Wood Declares Harding's
in Scripture.

President Harding's inaugural text, taken from the book of Micah, was used by Dr. L. B. Wood in his sermon Sunday evening at the First Methodist church. His description of the inauguration services for the Rev. E. L. Worthmann, pastor of the Reformed church, Kaukauna, and the Rev. E. Buehrer, of the Reformed Mission church, Green Bay.

The charge was given the pastor in English by the Rev. Mr. Buehrer, and the Rev. Mr. Worthmann followed with the charge to the congregation in German. The latter then conducted the installation ceremony with the Rev. Mr. Buehrer and William Klumb, Sr., elder of the Kaukauna Reformed church as witnesses.

The Rev. Mr. Nuss came here from Waukegan, where he had charge of a country congregation for four and a half years. He has conducted services in the local church since Dec. 1.

Harding's verse was quoted at the close of his inaugural address. It was: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" Micah VI. The application of this verse to the world of today was explained by Dr. Wood, pointing out that those who carried out its provisions would lead a successful life. The president pledged himself to try to abide by the verse.

He said in part: "This is a great text that President Harding has selected. George Adam Smith, one of the most distinguished of old testament scholars, says that it is the greatest statement in all the Old Testament, and that only the words of Christ, 'Come into Me, all ye that labor,' excel it in all the Bible.

The difficulty that Micah faced was that while the Jews were considered very religious, they did not recognize the connection between religion and ethical righteousness. They put the forms of religion first. The discrepancy between religious worship and daily living has been manifest more than once. There are cults that have been guilty of practicing prostitution and murder in the name of religion. And a like difficulty confronts us when we turn to the Christian world. Is it any wonder that people are amazed when they read that one-third of the world is Christian, and then note how much we lack of the Christ spirit in society? Truly there is too much pouring out of blood and oil, and not enough of the thing which Micah stood for. The conviction that a man who is not living in just and helpful relations with his fellows by no means whatever can be on right terms with God, is one of man's greatest spiritual illuminations, the understanding of which cost long centuries of slow and painful progress out of darkness into light.

"Three things there are that the prophet proposes the man of God must do. First of all, he must do justly. Justice is the basis of all moral character. It forbids wrong of every kind and under every plea. If a man does justly, there will be no oppression or injustice to any man, or class, or color, or race. When this becomes a reality Christian nation, there will be no oppression of laboring men, nor will laborers seek to take unjust advantage of their employers. In no small measure the Red menace that has engulfed Russia and that has run to its borders, and today threatens the civilized world, is the result of the fact that the oppressed people of the land saw their rulers worshipping God with much elaborate ceremony and ritual; and yet found them grinding the faces of the poor. And we might just as well face the fact that it would be better for us to be shouting atheists than to be professing religious, if we are going to carry on a policy of social injustice, for persecution accompanied by piety, tends always to promote rebellion.

"Micah also says that the man of God will love mercy. This is an advance upon the other statement, since mercy excels justice. A Shylock may think himself a man of justice when he demands his pound of flesh. But we will never forget Shakespeare's

BIG DANCE HALL TO BE BUILT NEAR NEW LONDON

John F. Koehnke has plans prepared for a new dance pavilion 80 by 100 feet which he intends to build on his land on the bank of Wolf river two miles west of New London. He owns several acres of land at a point where the river makes almost a loop, and which is popular with automobile tourists as a camping and fishing ground. The land is located on one of the trunk highways.

Want Skaters To Take Part In The Movies

Here is the chance dozens of Appleton boys and girls, men and women have been waiting for a long time. The chance to take part in a real, live motion picture.

"Amateur" film production of Edna Peber's "Fanny Herself" will be provided by Appleton people Wednesday afternoon at Waverly beach where a representative of the Universal Film Co. will endeavor to take several hundred feet of pictures of ice skaters. Every Appleton man, woman, boy and girl who can skate is invited to take part. A special car will leave the Onondaga and College avenue corner at 2:15 Wednesday afternoon for the beach. The snow will be scraped away and a large skating area is to be provided.

Whether other pictures of Appleton will be included in the completed film depends on the weatherman. If it snows within the next few days several street scenes will be taken. It probably will be from sixteen to twenty weeks before the picture is completed. It was said. An effort is being made to make "Fanny Herself" a real work of art and no expense or time is being spared.

C. OF C. WILL SELECT HIGHWAY SIGN DESIGN

A suitable design has been obtained by the publicity and convention committee of the chapter of the C. of C. from the Valley Advertising company for road signs to be placed on highways approaching Appleton. The drawing is to be submitted to the board of directors at the bi-weekly meeting Thursday with a recommendation that the signs be ordered.

EVANGELICAL Y. P. A. HAS UNIQUE CONTEST

With the first month of its "motivated" contest completed, the missionary committee of the Young Peoples Alliance of the Evangelical church finds itself in a lead with a total of 320 points to its credit. It is the first committee to pass the $20 mark.

Four committees are entered in the contest, the Christian work, social culture, sympathy and relief, and missionary committees. Each has charge of one meeting of the society a month, and is marked by three judges according to how well it carries out the motives of its particular branch of service. Reports showing the standings were presented at the meeting Sunday evening.

SCHOOL BOARD IS ON RECORD FOR 2 JUNIOR SCHOOLS

City Should Start Planning at Once, Heads of School System Declare.

The board of education at its regular monthly meeting in the city superintendent's office in the high school building Monday afternoon went on record as favoring the junior high school system and of the erection of two junior high schools as the best method for relieving the crowded condition. The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, it has become necessary to adopt and carry out a plan for an increase in room and equipment for the schools of the city of Appleton, and especially for the high school, and whereas, the board of education believes that a junior high school system is the most desirable for the city of Appleton, and that the erection of two junior high schools would be the most economical and most desirable method of relieving the coming congestion in all of our schools in addition to its many other advantages, now, therefore, it is hereby

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the board of education that the city of Appleton should at once proceed to plan for and erect two junior high schools in such locations as will best serve the interests of the school population of the entire city."

Engage New Teacher
Harold Decker, instructor in the manual training department, whose health has been impaired for some time, was released and Leonard Hovild, for two years superintendent of manual training at Beloit high school, was selected to succeed him. Mr. Hovild is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and also Stout Training school at Menomonie, Wis.

Report of J. G. Pfeil, treasurer of floor, showed that he had investigated 24 cases of nonattendance during the month and that seven calls were made to various schools; that two parents had been notified of violation of the law; and that two pupils had returned to school.

First Frost
Our first frost will occur on September 5, weather prognosticators say. Thunder was heard during the storm of Saturday. The old custom is to figure six months from the date of the first spring thunderstorm, which denotes the day when Jack Frost makes his first appearance. Farmers are already speculating whether the corn will be ripe enough by that date to prevent harm if frost-bitten.

HOUSING STUDY IS URGED BY C. OF C.

A program looking to the improvement of the housing situation of the country was adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at a conference of national councilors, according to word received by the Appleton chamber.

Investigation of alleged illegal combinations in the building industry were discussed and resolutions adopted urging continuance of the probe and punishment of offenders.

Another declaration states that the "present housing shortage in the United States constitutes a grave menace to physical health and moral well being of the American people, conduces to discontent and unrest, and will, if long continued, lead to lessened efficiency and productivity."

It urged that providing and maintaining an adequate supply of good dwellings is essentially a business function.

The Appleton chamber is asked with others of the country to cause a thorough study of housing conditions and to adopt a constructive program to provide the needed houses. All persons or firms engaged in the building industry are urged to use their influence to bring about reductions in building costs.

Wireless telephony has been found practicable over distances up to 2500 miles.

HARDWARE SALESMAN SHOWS REAL OPTIMISM

"In my travels over the state, I find an optimistic note everywhere," said C. W. Brown, Oshkosh hardware salesman, who visited Appleton Monday. "There appears to be a gradual resumption of business and I believe everybody who really wants work will be employed within the next six weeks."

Mr. Brown said Appleton was fortunate, because the city was not as hard hit by the depression as many other cities. Last week was one of the best he has enjoyed for some time, looking as large an amount of business as in the days of prosperity. This was regarded as an encouraging sign, he said.

MOTHERS! Give The Little Ones Syrup Pepsin

They like Dr. Caldwell's, and it quickly relieves their constipation and headaches.

BEGIN to teach the child regular daily elimination as young as possible, and much constipation will be avoided later in life. The most convenient hour throughout life is immediately upon arising. It does not then interfere with play, school or work.

When in spite of your efforts a member of the family becomes constipated, give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the size dose directed on the bottle. It is a mild, gentle laxative safe for young babies; effective for grownups. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and most economical as a sixty cent bottle will last you many months.

For your information, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. Look on it as a good family friend, useful to relieve constipation and symptoms like headache, biliousness, colds, fever, bad breath, loss of appetite and sleep. It is no exaggeration to say that millions of families are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It safeguards their health.

HILL IN PERFECT SHAPE FOR BOUT WITH MARTINSON

All Attendance Records Will Be Broken When Grapplers Meet Tonight.

"Never for better in my life." That is the way George Hill, who met Paul Martinson for a second time Tuesday night, described himself a few hours before the bout. Hill is a professional grappler and has suffered in their first meeting and in a splendid condition. He will go on the mat weighing about 157 pounds. He worked harder than he has in months in preparation for a bout in months. Tonight's bout undoubtedly will depend largely on the stamina of the grapplers. Martinson has a big advantage in size and strength while Hill is much the faster and cleverer of the two. Martinson was a very tired man when he succeeded in whipping Hill with a flying mare and it is doubtful if he could have lasted much longer. Hill is determined to keep out of that hold in the next meeting and if he succeeds Martinson will be in for a mighty busy evening. Martinson is a clean sportsman and a good fellow. He rushes the fighting all he can and is a dangerous opponent for any grappler. He doesn't like the headlock, however, and his fear of that hold may be his undoing. Hill has been working out with a large number of other holds which he expects to put on his big opponent while the latter is trying to dodge the head grip. Interest in the match is at a fever heat. The advance ticket sale is the largest in the history of the mat game here. Fans are coming from all over the Fox river valley to see what should be the feature bout of the season. The men will wrestle best two out of three falls with only the strange hold barred.

KIMBERLY BALL CLUB IS READY FOR SEASON

W. H. Flower was elected president of the Kimberly baseball association at an enthusiastic meeting of stockholders. Other officers are A. McIntyre, vice president, Edward Franz, secretary, Frank Dupont, treasurer, Dr. C. G. Mares, Joseph Thein, Theodore Wydevon, M. H. Verleken, E. W. Behrend, E. Dupont and W. H. Flower, directors. Harry Sylvester, ex-club player, will manage the club and play first base. "Dutch" has his team nearly lined up and will begin spring training in the near future. Kimberly fans are eager for the opening of the ball season. Although the town is the smallest in the league it has been drawing large crowds and is confident of making both ends

Hooper Has Long Record

When Harry B. Hooper stepped into the big league ranks back in 1909 he donned a Boston Red Sox uniform. And he has been with that team ever since. The 1921 season will break the run of an even dozen years, through the trading of Hooper to the Chicago White Sox for John Collins and Nemo Leibold. It is one of the longest terms of connection with one team in the big leagues. Collins Close Up Collins' record stacks up within one year as good. He joined the White Sox in 1919 and has been one of Collins' boys since that time. Leibold has played with two big league teams. He started with Cleveland in 1915 and was an Indian for a little over two seasons. In 1915 he was claimed by Chicago on waiver price. Hooper has been the leader of the three in the batting average column. Collins ranks second. Hooper is also considered the most nussed fielder and has stolen almost as many bases as Collins and Leibold together in the past five years. All Outfielders All three are outfielders, though John Collins has held down first base on many occasions. Hooper is 33 and came from the Sacramento team of the California State League. Collins is 34 and came from the Springfield squad of the Connecticut League. Leibold is 28 and graduated from the Milwaukee American Association team.

BRANDT INVITES LOCAL PLAYERS TO TRY OUT FOR TEAM

First Call for Baseball Talent Has Been Issued by League Magnate.

Any lingering doubts remaining in the minds of Appleton baseball fans that spring is not here were dispelled Tuesday morning when Owner August Brandt of the Fox River Valley league baseball club issued his first call for playing candidates. Brandt wants as many home players as possible on his club and will give every aspirant a chance to try out. Local baseball players who believe they have a chance of getting on the club have been asked to report to Mr. Brandt as soon as possible so he can make arrangements for tryouts, probably early in April or as soon as the playing field can be put in readiness. Manager Oscar Spies will be here to assist in looking over the talent. It is believed nearly the entire team can be recruited from Appleton. Work on the new baseball park will be started as soon as the ground dries sufficiently. The new fence will be moved back several hundred feet and a new diamond will be constructed. The outfield will be considerably larger than it is now and a high wire screen will be built over the top, making home run hitting a rather difficult feat. The grandstand will be moved to the southwest corner of the park and enlarged to accommodate 1,000 patrons.

MONTREAL IS HARD AFTER BIG TILT

By United Press Leased Wire New York—Montreal's chances for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight probably will be decided Tuesday. "Tex" Rickard and C. F. Graham, representing Canadian interests, are to confer again Tuesday when the promoter will listen to the last word of the Canadians. It is understood, however, that the Canadians gave Rickard absolute assurance that the contest could be held without interference in Montreal and asked him what guarantee he wanted to stage the bout across the border. Rickard intimated Tuesday that he was favorably impressed with the offer made by Graham but that he was not anxious to pass up several American cities being considered unless it is absolutely necessary.

New Orleans will shortly boast a boxing arena costing $50,000.

SWEAR OFF TOBACCO

"No-To-Bac" has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a cigarette, cigar, pipe, or for a chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead, to help relieve that awful desire. Shortly the habit may be completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy to do. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question. adv.

APPLETON READY FOR CAGE TOURNEY

Local School Will Send Eight Men to Sectional Meet in Oshkosh.

Coach A. K. Incent of Appleton high school is putting his basketball team through its final paces in preparation for the ninth annual district basketball tournament opening in Oshkosh on Thursday. High school students have planned a "pop" meeting for Thursday morning to stimulate interest in the contests. If Appleton survives the preliminary games on Thursday arrangements will be made for special cars to transport the students to the scene of hostilities on Friday and Saturday. The following teams have been entered in the tourney: Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha, Mayville, Ripon and Shawano. Coaches of the teams will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon to draw opponents for the games which start at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. The second series of games will be played at 7:30 that evening. It will be impossible to determine if Appleton plays Thursday afternoon or evening until after the meeting of coaches. Friday's games will be played at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. and Saturday's schedule calls for the first game at 9 o'clock in the morning and the final at 7:30 in the evening. Appleton will send eight men to the tournament. Griffin was disqualified for hitting low.
